

Bio for Robert D. McCall

EDUCATION

Associate of Applied Science in Water and Wastewater Technology, Crowder College, Neosho, MO - 1989

BS (1994) and MS (1997) from Univ. of Arkansas, Fayetteville – with an emphasis on pesticide residues in soil, water, and air.

EMPLOYMENT

1997 – 2000

Univ. of Missouri Outreach and Extension as a County Agriculture Agent and County SWCD Secretary

2000 - Present

Ohio State University Extension, Center at Lima Extension Educator in Watershed Management from. Also serves as Treasurer for the All Ohio Chapter - Soil and Water Conservation Society, 2004 to present.

CURRENT RESPONSIBILITIES

Robert has been with OSU Extension for 4+ years as the OSU Center at Lima Watershed Management Educator. He also serves as the Education and Outreach Arm of a group of scientists and other researchers from OSU, ODNR, Heidelberg College and other agencies studying how drainage channel restoration can be used to improve stream integrity and maintain flow capacity. Primary responsibilities include working with several watershed groups and collaborating with other state and local agencies to help these groups accomplish their goals of watershed improvement while considering socio-economic concerns, and serving as a resource for Agriculture and Natural Resource Extension Educators in counties the Western Region, as well as the State of Ohio.